GOOD GOVERNMENT

There is a tendency on the part of the average citizen to avoid participation in public affairs. This lack of active interest allows the development of conditions which are detrimental to the general welfare and which penalizes the diffident citizen for his carelessness.

One of the immediate consequences of failure on the part of many qualified persons to accept community leadership is the assumption of authority by less talented, but more egotistic residents.

Under mediocre guidance a nation, a state, a county becomes disorganized, inarticulate and confused and progress is stultified.

The members of the Good Government Committee for Jefferson County have accepted a task they did not seek but which affords an opportunity for real service. Representing all sections of the county and named regardless of political affiliation, it becomes their responsibility to observe the administration of county government and advise the authorities of areas affecting the general welfare.

The caliber of the membership of the committee should inspire confidence and elicit a spirit of cooperation and participation on the part of every well-thinking resident of the county. The gesture of Judge Horace M. Barker in creating this people's safeguard deserves commendation from the better element of our citizenry. It is an assurance that the county is to be carefully considered in the deliberations of local government officials.

The Good Government Committee will not be concerned with recommending persons for jobs, but they will be interested in the manner in which county employees perform their duties. The committee however is something more than a "vigilance force" and its greatest contribution must come through constructive criticism. "Good government," said one of the members, "is more than honest administration of the law. It includes intelligent administration directed toward the comfort, protection and welfare of the people with increasing efficiency. New administrations often make much of 'cleaning house,' but after a few months become more sloven than their predecessors. Good government starts with house cleaning and then plans for a better structure."

The Good Government Committee is an important step toward general participation in local government affairs—A. G. Host.

WE ACTUALLY BOUGHT A SHIRT

We went down town the other day and bought a shirt. That was quite an event for us. We had been looking for a shirt for several weeks, and every day the need for one was becoming more pronounced. But after several shopping rounds we, at last, actually came upon one—a very ordinary white cotton shirt, in the men's wear department of one of Louisville's leading retail stores.

Having always been conservative in the purchase of wearing apparel, we have never had occasion to boast about paying high prices for items which make up our personal wardrobe. And certainly there is nothing to boast about in the way of quality in our most recent purchases. Although it came from a reputable dealer and was both the best and worst that the store had to offer, and even bore the customary OPA price tag, it marked for us a new departure in paying much and getting little in the way of a new shirt.

They tell us that there is no inflation, yet OPA is supposed to have seen to that. But before looking at the price tag we thought that we were getting a fairly good $1.50 shirt. The clerk, after telling us that there was no choice to be made, and accepting a $5 bill, wrapped up one of the precious garments and presented it to us, together with one five-cent piece. His very pertinent comment was, "You don't get much back."

We are wondering if these fellows won't forget how to sell, if and when things get back to earth again. Anyway, we at least have one shirt that isn't worn threadbare. And when it goes to the laundry we will almost be persuaded to go along with it.

NEED FOR CHARACTER BUILDING

Seeking the widest possible support for Sunday School Week, the Layman's National Committee has asked President Truman and the governors of each state to cooperate in appropriate manner. Mayors, too, throughout the country will be asked to appear in the 15-minute radio address. The National Sunday School Week will be asked to display the National Sunday School posters in cities throughout the land. Ministers, fraternal and service organizations and feature writers will seek to popularize Sunday School by urging parents to encourage their children to attend Sunday School.

Serious-minded folks today recognize a current disregard for Christian principles, by many adults as well as children, and are lending their support in this emphasis on the Sunday School. It is a step in the direction of good citizenship. J. Edgar Hoover has repeatedly emphasized the importance of the Sunday School and pointed out the value of its influence on community life. Such an institution deserves the support of all law-abiding people.

In the Old Testament book of Proverbs we read, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." There can be no good country without good character.

Newburg News

By Mrs. J. H. Shively.

Large attendance at Sunday School. Glad to see so many young folks out and we certainly appreciate their effort to sing and recite. More about it next week. To have Mrs. Davis as director. Dr. and Mrs. Davis are a great help to our church. Mrs. Davis is very willing and capable and fits in many places. Being a housekeeper and teacher at Junior High we should appreciate great efforts she puts forth in the work of our church. Mrs. W. O. Lilly is also very efficient and is now working on a pageant to be given Easter Sunday at the church. More about it next week.

Mrs. O. Stivers mentioned the District Convention at Central Christian Church in Louisville and we hope Newburg Church will be represented.

Mrs. J. S. Hart will spend the summer with his sisters in Newburg. He attended services at the Louisville Christian Church Sunday where a contest is on until Easter, but he will worship with the Newburg Church soon where he was at one time elder of the church and Superintendent of Sunday School.

Mrs. Katie Lent was all day guest of Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Shively Thursday and Mrs. Dowell was a brief visitor in our home Saturday. We always enjoy Mrs. Lent or Mr. Lent as we love to call her.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Frey have recently purchased the old Bryant property and we are so glad to see this splendid family in our neighborhood.

Mrs. Joe Wade and attractive little sons have been spending several days with Catherine Hart and Douglas. Mrs. Wade and son, Bobby Joe, called on their great and great, great aunts, Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Shively Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. O. J. Stivers asked for a donation of cookies from the Newburg Church to be served to the soldiers of the Logan Lounge next Sunday afternoon. Please bring them to church Sunday morning if you do not see Mrs. Stivers this week.

Mrs. W. O. Lilly reports a wonderful visit to Toledo, Ohio, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parcel and family. While there she attended the graduation of her grand daughter, Bonnie Jean Parcel and attended services on Sunday where her son, Mr. Harold Parcel, is actively engaged in church work and a teacher of the Young Married Folks Class. Mrs. Lilly gathered many ideas that might be helpful to our Sunday School.

How gladly we welcome the advent of Spring with its beautiful flowers and the sweet warble of the birds.

Mrs. George Ahman and daughter Linda were all day guests of Mrs. Calvin Hart Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Feige were all day Sunday guests of Mrs. and Billy Frey at the Farm.

Hope to see you at the Fish Fry Saturday night at the Newburg School.

A VISIT TO MIAMI
 I spent the week-end of March 10 in Miami with my former life friend from Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Helm and family. Miami is a beautiful city of many skyscrapers and beautiful homes to take care of tourists. The dwellings are most of concrete blocks cemented over painted white. The roofs are practically all flat. This I am told makes them safe against hurricanes.

I learned it was a common thing for the people who own their own homes to rent out rooms with only bath privileges for $25 a week. Most of all of the homes have a "Solar Heating System." To me it was God heating the water for them through his sun in the heavens.

I saw Miami Beach and between two and three thousand people taking sun baths and a few bathing in the Atlantic Ocean. Life guards are always present. One told me they save somebody every day from drowning.

Miami has the Miami River, the Biscayne Bay and ocean beach with many islands, coral reefs, coral proper and the ocean beach. I saw the greater number of their fourteen hundred hotels, painted white. Their beautiful parks, royal palms and coconut palms with all kinds of flowers is a beautiful sight never to be forgotten.

When it was cold, wet and snowing March 10 in Kentucky I was enjoying the one million dollar summertime climate on the same day in Miami. Miami has dirt, or soil, or frost, or flies, but has sunshine, the never too hot in the shade.

Sunday I worshipped at the Tamiami Temple Methodist Church, where Rev. G. Leon Wells is pastor. He was pastor until two years ago for nine years at St. Cloud, where my wife and I are spending six weeks with Judge Lee S. Oliver, formerly of Kentucky, and wife. After church service, Mrs. C. R. Parker and Mrs. Leon Spillan, now living in Miami, but formerly of Misses Scruggs of Adairville, Ky., greeted me. I had spent two weeks in their home when I had been a revival meeting at the Methodist Church there. I also called to see Will and Cora Caple, formerly of Fairdale, Jefferson County, who own their home and are well. Also their son and wife, Fred and Edna Caple, with their nine children. All of them from Kentucky—Rev. C. K. DICKY.

There lies the outstanding lesson of these verses of Scripture which we do not sin like Israel; yes, sin even worse than they did, Joseph Parker in the People's Bible (vol. 6, p. 287) makes this acute application of the truth: "Do we condemn them? Let us not be ready with reproach; nor urging in condemnation. We are doing a despicable thing if we are to condemn Israel in this case. We are told that God is angry with the wicked every day; that the wicked shall be driven into hell, and all the nations that forget God. We are told that the liar shall have his portion in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone, that no drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven, that anything unclean, defiled or corrupt shall not pass into the city of God's light. We are told that nothing remaineth for the sinner but a fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation."

"What is the result? Men go immediately from the hearing or reading of the most stirring statements concerning the future of the wicked and can throw themselves with unbridled license into all the diabolical enjoyments which stimulate but never satisfy the corrupt soul."

III. Providential Willingness (vv. 21, 22).

Reluctantly, but inevitably, comes the divine expression of willingness to let man go the way he wants to go. Israel shall have a king, says God. In fact He had promised to do long before (see Deut. 17: 14-20).

It is true to quote Parker again that "We can force our way through all solemn warnings, all pathetic entreaties, all exhortations, and say: 'We can go to hell if we will.' There is nothing before us but not love, enough to a way over it—'you can get there!'"

May we, neither as individuals nor as a nation, thus thwart God's love and reject His warnings, and go on our own stubborn way into sin and sorrow.

Lesson for March 31

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts as given in the Bible.

MEMORY SELECTION—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord—Psalm 124.

A major crisis has come in the life of a nation when it is ready to change its form of government. That is what we are now doing in Israel, for they were about to throw off the direct rule of God and deify a king.

There were good reasons for their desire. Samuel was old. His sons who were to succeed him were not honest (1 Sam. 8: 3). But there were other motives not so good; for example, their desire to have the pomp of a kingly ruler and a wish to be like other peoples (v. 20).

The request was made to Samuel (1 Sam. 8: 6). He was grieved, but the Lord showed him that it was not His will to have them rejecting, but God's will (v. 7).

The matter came to a crisis as Samuel was sent to reason with them (v. 9).

I. Prophetic Words (vv. 10-18).

There is always a price to pay if we are eager to follow the styles of this world, Israel was to have a king with an attractive court and mightier army than their neighbors. A word of warning may be in place here for Christians who have fallen for the temptation to keep pace with their ungodly neighbors—"keep up with the Joneses," as it is sometimes put.

Government has the right to call on the governed for its support, but they will deny the right to rule over them. The tremendous military establishments which the rulers of the earth have maintained have been both burdensome and provocative of war.

We live in a sinful world, and we may as well face the necessity of protecting ourselves and policing the unruly, but think how much better would be our lot if we like Israel could have been under the direct rule of God.

They did not want it. Are men any better today when they reject the direct rule of the Son of God over their lives?

II. Perseverant Willing (vv. 19, 20).

The people refused to hear their stern rebuke. They said, "But we will have a king over us," and one can almost hear the emphasis on the word "will."

One might have expected that the leaders of the people would have sensed the folly of their plan and asked God to continue to rule over them forever, but the stubbornness of the wild human heart is almost beyond belief. When the determination is coupled with pride and unbelief it becomes an even more impudently barrier to the blessing of God.

There lies the outstanding lesson of these verses of Scripture which we do not sin like Israel; yes, sin even worse than they did, Joseph Parker in the People's Bible (vol. 6, p. 287) makes this acute application of the truth: "Do we condemn them? ## THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

GEORGE: "Yes, I certainly would like to hear you call that an old fashioned judge."

OLD JUDGE: "Glad to tell you, George. Until recently, a person known as an alcoholic was generally treated as a social outcast. Little if anything was done to understand him or help him. But, during the past few years, medical research and study has developed that alcoholics are really sick people... that there is usually a deep-seated physical, social or emotional reason behind their behavior. That's why today so much is being done to help them by finding out and correcting the condition that leads them to excess."

GEORGE: "How many folks are there like that, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Well, according to scientific research, 98% of the people who drink, drink sensibly. 95% do so unweary, at times. Included in that 5% is the small percentage of the sick people I'm talking about."

GEORGE: "That certainly gives me a clearer picture. It's the most sensible approach I've ever heard of on the subject."

LET'S STOP FEEDING INFLATION

You know what happens...

When you continue to spend more than you make and...

Keep on borrowing to make the difference!

You know too, that a big chunk of every dollar you earn and every dollar you spend goes to pay the cost of government.

That's why it's important for you to take a good look at the way the government spends your dollars.

Government should begin now to live within its means

During the war government necessarily spent huge sums of money. Yet, with the war over, the government plans to spend four times as much in the coming year as it spent in the highest pre-war year.

Most thoughtful people believe that government expenditures are now far greater than they need be.

They believe that government, like a family, should live within its means... that it should not spend more than it takes in... that it should not keep on going deeper into debt.

Yet that is exactly what's happening today. Our government is spending billions more than it takes in. And it continues to borrow to make up the difference.

This is the kind of money-handling that causes inflation.

Economy in government means money in your pocket

If the American people — through Congress — will reduce government spending and take steps to encourage production, inflation will be stopped... and this is the only way it can be stopped.

Write your representatives in Congress today.

Urge them to cut the cost of government, eliminating all waste... all unnecessary services... and postponing all expenditures that can be put off until our war bills have been paid.

Urge them to make the government start living within its means... at a level that you and your neighbors can afford to pay.

You'll see the results soon in the cost of everything that you buy... food, clothing and everything else. And you'll be doing your country a real service.

YOUR DOLLARS... a postcard to the National Association of Manufacturers; 14 West 49th Street, New York 20, N. Y., will bring you copy of this informative booklet on government spending—a subject which is all-important to you.

664 QUESTION BRINGS A Billion Dollar Answer

Coming out of the war—in which they were called upon to carry more than 90 per cent of the military transportation load—the railroads are being asked this question:

"What are you going to do about peacetime equipment and services?"

And here's the answer for 1946:

A billion dollars' worth of new passenger and freight cars, new locomotives, new and heavier steel rail, new operating facilities, new equipment, materials and supplies of all sorts.

This means new ideas in cars—whole new trains—providing the utmost in safety, comfort, and luxury. New motive power. Better tracks and roadbeds. New standards of dependable, all-season freight service.

For the future, the answer is to be found in a continuation of railroad research for better transportation service, carried on more actively and on a broader front than ever before.

And all of it—not just the cars and engines, but the roadbeds upon which they run and the fixed facilities they use—is paid for with railroad money—no government subsidy—no federal, state, or municipal aid—no money from the taxpayers.

Operating on this self-supporting business basis, the railroads provide America with the greater part of the transportation upon which its future prosperity depends—at a cost averaging well below that of any comparable service anywhere in the world.

Middletown Scouts Are Re-organized

Reorganization of Troop 125 Boy Scouts of America, Middletown, Ky., is well under way. The third meeting on March 12, six scouts were present. The meeting night was changed from Tuesday to Monday and on Monday, March 18, thirteen boys were present. These boys were re-elected to each bring at least one other boy.

The turn-out on Monday, March 25, numbered twenty-two. The troop, practically disbanded, is being reorganized by the new scoutmaster, T. A. Metzger. Support by the local scout committee and district headquarters has been very helpful.

Vance Walker has been named assistant scoutmaster. Troop 125 is building its own rifle and archery range along with a pavilion and outdoor grill on the farm of the scoutmaster on U. S. Highway 60. Target practice will be held under competent supervision. Actual practice is expected to get under way in about two weeks. First Sergeant Harold Twyman will serve as instructor at the open session. Handling of arms and safety practices will be keynote for beginners.

A baseball team is also to be organized among these boys. The Middletown Troop needs about twelve more boys, 12 to 15 years of age, to complete its four patrol. Meetings are held at the Middletown Club House every Monday night at 7 p.m. Any boy who wants to get into scouting may come to these meetings—Russell Gover, Troop reporter.

Good Soil Practice

Trebles Farm Value

By Shirley W. Anderson

County Agent

Through the past twenty years the progressive farmers of Jefferson County have been improving soil fertility, thus increasing the productivity of the land, through the use of soil amendments and cover crops.

The farmers of the county have used about 20,000 tons of ground limestone annually for the past ten years. They have applied increasing amounts of fertilizer, particularly phosphate and potash. Recently, commercial nitrogen has become available for much wider use.

These practices, together with the use of improved varieties of grains and grasses and a more liberal use of legumes both for harvest and as soil building and cover crops, have made a steady increase in the productivity of land.

A good example of these results is to be seen in the recent established by George Miller in the operation of the land owned by George Eady near Jeffersontown.

Ten years ago, Mr. Eady purchased 100 acres of land, which was devoted to the production of the usual crops, with no serious attention being given to the improvement of the soil.

In 1930 this land produced an estimated yield of 35 bushels of corn per acre. In 1937 this acreage was limed and fertilized, receiving 4 tons of ground limestone and 200 pounds of 16% phosphate fertilizer per acre. Soybeans were grown and harvested for hay; then the land was seeded to barley with an application of 150 pounds of 16% phosphate per acre. From one field of 12 acres, the barley was harvested, the land measured 10 tons per acre and seeded in alfalfa. During the next four years, this field remained in alfalfa and received additional applications of phosphate and potash and during this period produced an average of 4 tons of hay per acre per year.

In 1945, this field was manured, 15 tons per acre and planted in corn using an adapted strain of hybrid seed. The corn yield was determined and this field produced 118 bushels of dry, sound ear corn per acre.

It was this same field that produced 35 bushels of corn per acre 10 years before. During this ten-year period each acre of land received the equivalent of 250 pounds of 16% phosphate and 20 pounds of nitrate of potash each year. The land was limed once, 4 tons per acre, and covered with manure, 10 tons per acre, twice during the 10 years.

The total cost of ground limestone, commercial fertilizer and value of the manure amounted to $75.00 per acre during the ten-year period.

This investment of $75.00 per acre during the ten-year period increased the production from 35 to 118 bushels of corn per acre. In 1945, 12 acres of land, produced more than 40 acres did in 1936. Thus, in effect, the value of the land has been increased 33% per cent by the investment of $75.00 per acre through the decade. Estimating the agricultural value of the land at $100.00 per acre in 1936 producing 35 bushels of corn per acre, it now has an agricultural value of $225.00 per acre or an increase of $225.00 per acre, resulting from good management and the investment of $75.00 in soil ground limestone and fertilizer.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Veterans Affairs, is able to bring you this weekly column on problems of the veteran and his family. Questions may be asked and answered in the column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but in the column the writer will appear in the newspaper regularly.

Letter-Writing Rules

The Veterans' administration, faced with an unprecedented volume of correspondence and a shortage of trained personnel, has appealed to veterans everywhere to "restrain their mail to official business and to follow certain rules expedite its processing."

The Veterans' administration is handling approximately 120,000 letters per day in the central office here in Washington and the post office is working overtime in an effort to keep up with the mail. Here are some rules which will aid in getting early answers to your letters:

1. Include the veteran's name, address, legibly written, in every letter.
2. Give the "C" number in letters relating to pensions, compensation, rehabilitation or training.
3. Include the "N", "A", "S" numbers and the serial number of the veteran in each letter regarding insurance.
4. Give the "C" number in the case of a deceased veteran.

Questions and Answers

Q.—I have been reading your service bureau in the local papers. Our problem is this: We have lost our war service card in the middle of bringing them back and want to know to whom to write and when. And when they arrive does the government employees, or the American Legion take care of services. Can there be a dual number in your service bureau to be taken and called?—The Jefferson County Veterans' Service Bureau.

A.—The quartermaster card is now making plans to bring the service card war service in the middle of bringing them back and want to know to whom to write and when. And when they arrive does the government employees, or the American Legion take care of services. Can there be a dual number in your service bureau to be taken and called?—The Jefferson County Veterans' Service Bureau.

Q.—I am a soldier who has been separated from his first wife, then divorced and married again. He has married his second wife and is living with her. He was called to the service as a beneficiary in his insurance. The first wife is now deceased. Insurance—Mrs. E. P. Brown, Yuma.

A.—A soldier who is now named in his beneficiary in his policy will get the insurance.

Q.—A soldier receives his discharge by other than the point system, but on a dependency claim, will he be his monetary due pay privilege to which he is entitled under the G.I. Bill of Rights?—Wendell Mather, Tablo Grove, Ill.

A.—If he was discharged on a dependency or convenience claim, he will lose his monetary due pay, but not necessarily his benefits under the G.I. Bill.

Q.—Can a veteran of World War I get a pension if unable to work? Can a wife of a World War I veteran receive a pension at his death?—The Jefferson County Veterans' Service Bureau.

A.—The Veterans' administration says if a World War I veteran is totally disabled he is entitled to a pension. If he is not disabled, but is unable to work because of a service-connected disability, he is entitled to a pension of $45 per month. The Veterans' administration pays $100 to the undertaker for burial of a World War I veteran.

Q.—My husband will complete five years of service in February and has 80 points. He is in Manila, the Philippines. He is a reservist and was a service unit in some part of the occupational army. Is this part of the occupational army?

A.—Actually a service battalion was the part of the occupational army, but a transportation corps, such as your husband is in, is to all practical purposes part of the occupational army. He may stay in Manila as long as he is needed there.

ESTABLISHED JUNE 1907 — AN INDEPENDENT COUNTY NEWSPAPER

JEFFERSONTOWN, KY., FRIDAY, MARCH 29, 1946

All Fools' Day Shows Few New Tricks

By CHARLIE VETTER

Assistant Supervisor
Jefferson County

Hand me a match, Ray, while I light up "Old Betsy" to blow a few more smoke rings around Jefferson County. The puffing is good this week since Jefferson Countians have been on the move which means lots of things have been happening.

Bumped into Charles Jackson and Douglas O'Bryan over in Eastwood and found them busy working on track events for the boys and girls of Eastwood. Charlie and Doug are building high jump standards which will furnish high jumping facilities for Eastwood Community.

Rev. J. E. Stomberger writes that he is very interested in the recreation program in Jeffersontown while Rev. James Moak is another enthusiast looking forward to the spring and summer programs coming up. While strolling around Jeffersontown we chatted with a number of citizens who are anticipating something new and stimulating in the program. Carl LaMar is working up for the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board in the form of a big agricultural day at which time Jefferson Countians will see plowing contests and related agricultural projects promoted.

Father Frank Hannifin of the Holy Family Church in Camp Taylor informs us that Camp Taylor children are anxious to get started on track while the same sort of news reaches us from Miss Wellington at Cane Run School.

Camp Taylor has some good prospects in such boys as Nick Allright, Richard Reiser, Jimmie McElair and a host of others. "Smokie Ring" is playing the boys at Cane Run School this week and is to journey out to Camp Taylor later to work with the future citizens of those communities in regard to the track field program.

St. Helen's has listed some basket basketball players on its roster for tournaments to play this week in the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board's county-wide tourney. Jack McMan, Valley, All-State Bob Manion, and All-K.I.A.C. Ed Kupper will display their abilities to Jefferson Countians.

Adolph Ash, Bud Griffiths, and Frank Allen are the drivers over in the Buechel area. Numbering on their lists of go-getters such wide-awake Jefferson Countians as Dave Strick, Carl Eversole, Finley Reid, and Walt Hildenbrandt the Buechel community will have a busy place with plenty of activity from here on.

Let's pin a recreational orchid on the back of our boys and girls. This junior high had organized and participated in an annual basketball festival in the past. ### MONKEY SEE MONKEY DO

By Capt. Wm. G. Klefer, Sup't. Crime Prevention Bureau, Louisville Division of Police.

When elucidating the antics of adolescent youth, it's safe to say, "Monkey-see—Monkey-do!" Actions speak louder than words; our youths learn their social habits by watching their elders perform. Adult example plays an important role in the shaping of juvenile lives. Many people recognized as reputable citizens, are unwittingly setting bad examples for adolescent youth, probably not so much by what they actually say or do as by what they endorse or sponsor.

OH! BOY! LOOK AT THE CALENDAR

The Movies

Take for an example the production and exhibition of moving pictures. Moving picture producers and exhibitors are recognized as reputable citizens. They have the local theatre invested in their businesses. They have demonstrated their business acumen, their imagination, and their ability to entertain and educate. However, sometimes fail to show how potent their products are.

Moving picture theatres are located in every town of any consequence, and their most faithful customers are our children. Entertainment has been the attraction; children enjoy seeing how the rest of the world lives. There is no better way to educate our youths than by showing them the rest of the world lives.

There is no better way to educate our youths than by showing them the rest of the world lives. There is no better way to educate our youths than by showing them the rest of the world lives.

D. D. T. Saves Asters From Insect-Borne Disease

Thanks to the army insecticide, D.D.T., asters which were rated among the three most popular flowers, may be on their way back to leadership this year. For years they have suffered from an insect-borne virus disease called aster yellow, which was carried from host plants by a pestiferous insect known as the leaf hopper.

This is a tiny jumping and flying pest which does not eat leaves, but drinks plant juices. No insecticide had ever been found which would control it, until D.D.T. was tried. When dusted on the plant, this new insecticide stays there until the insects, which swarm on the gardeners' approach, come back to renew their feast. Then D.D.T. strikes them, through their feet, and soon there are no leaf hoppers.

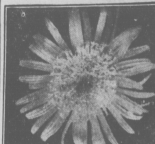

The aster with which is prevalent in some sections, has been overcome by breeding with resistant varieties, but against the yellow no remedy had been found, except to grow the flowers in a cloth house, or a high cloth fence, which would exclude the leaf hoppers.

Because the plants grow slowly, they are usually started under protection, to give an earlier harvest. But if you are willing to wait, most vigorous plants can be grown by sowing direct in the garden. Their large flowers, many colors, and beautiful forms make asters one of the exhibition flowers, which are gorgeous enough to present the sort of spectacle that is required for a great flower show. They have all the colors except yellow, but a yellow blend is found in varieties of the California Sunshine and Princess types, which have created centers surrounded by guard petals.

There are dwarf asters, which grow into bushes covered with small flowers, and single asters, in effect large daisies of many colors, which will be new to many gardeners. If you try asters this year, protect them from leaf hoppers by regular dustings from the time they are a few inches high.

Kentucky's number of counties to fifty or sixty is merely something to hope for eventually. Governor Chandler proposed as an economic measure, combining many of the poor and less populous counties, but he soon learned that the idea was futile, at least in this generation.

The Constitution Says

Under the present constitution of Kentucky only males can vote. Yet women have been using the ballot since 1920.

There will be strong pressure in the next constitutional convention to streamline the Legislative machinery of Kentucky. The present set-up has been changed little since the state was admitted into the Union.

Kentucky has more than twice as many counties as New York and Pennsylvania combined. We have one-seventh the population of these two states. But reducing tion. Fifty per cent of the tenant farmers in the state move every year. Many of these move to get better houses to live in. They get tired of putting washpans on their beds when it rains and of taking one side of their bodies and freezing the other side in cold weather.

In 1940 forty per cent of the farm homes in Kentucky needed major repairs—now 50 per cent are in a bad fix.

Dean Cooper of the University of Kentucky says 90 per cent of the farm homes in the state lack convenient sources of water. That means they don't have first-rate, sanitary wells in their back porches or backyard wells with cinder walks to them.

Twenty-five per cent of the farms in Kentucky are supposed to have electricity. Maybe that's a slight exaggeration. But the Rural Electrification Administration has done as much for agriculture in the last ten years as any other factor in rural progress. And the REA is all set to connect up thousands of farms as soon as material is available. Extensions were suspended altogether during the war.

Isolation resulting from bad roads does more to hold back remote rural districts than anything else. Not long ago I drove through some of the mountain counties, on paved roads, mostly. Most of the towns and good sized villages had modern school buildings. In little villages there were well dressed, intelligent looking boys and girls. Transfer these youngsters to Fifth Avenue in New York or State Street in Chicago and nobody could tell they were from rural eastern Kentucky. But the back-line roads touch not more than twenty per cent of the population in those counties. Back on the dirt roads many children have no schools to go to, and hundreds of school buildings are unfit to use.

The upping of the rural school tax limit from 75 cents per $100 worth of assessed property to $1.50 will help elementary education in the state. It is a long step in the progress hoped for by good citizens everywhere. But better roads must come to isolated districts before they can have good schools, more doctors and preachers, more dentists and home demonstration agents. Civilization moves on wheels.

When it comes to pushing legislation to provide money to finance Kentucky's institutions as they should be financed, the old fear of tax repudiations back home makes some State Senators and Representatives pauper-minded.

It is this pinch-penny policy that has done more than anything else to keep Kentucky at the tail end of the list of states. It takes money to make the mare trot, and the Legislature, ever since I was tall as a nail kept at our village store, has been giving the old gal just enough hay to enable her to walk.

*"I believe in
right in my customer's home"*

The telephone is more than convenient communication. It is a means of doing business, a way for the merchant to put his store in his customers' homes.

In serving business, the Telephone Company accepts a great responsibility—the obligation to meet every need of the business man who depends on the telephone.

With the Company—as with the corner drug store—earnings are vital to continued success. And because the telephone has become a part of every-day life, telephone earnings are a subject of importance to all.

In 1945, telephone earnings were the lowest in the past 23 years. For 1946, the outlook is for even lower earnings. In keeping with the general trend throughout the country, wages have recently been increased. The cost of everything else going into the furnishing of telephone service is also climbing.

Adequate earnings are a basic necessity to the American way of life. Earnings must be sufficient to enable industry to maintain high standards of service and to attract capital for expansion. As for the Telephone Company, they are indispensable if the full usefulness of the telephone in carrying on the business of the community is to be safeguarded.

Poultry Pointers

A Column on Poultry Production
By J. DAVIS MARREY

Should I Sell Layers?

"I've read so much about culling hens and reducing laying flocks, that I wonder if I should sell hens that are still laying?"

Some hens remain in production even though they are not laying over feed costs. These layers should be sold even though they are still in production. The pulve bones of these birds are not well spread and are not as pliable as those of a high producer. The need of the keel or breast bone is closer to the pelvic bones and the abdomen is not full and soft.

Regardless of the state of production your hens are in, your present market for eggs should govern your decision to sell hens. Feeding and culling should be low and grains urgently needed for human food and relief shipments abroad. If the prices you are receiving for eggs do not allow you a good return of profit, it would be better to put the feed you are using to better advantage. If you are receiving a good premium for your eggs on the retail market or as hatching eggs, keep your hens, otherwise sell them even though they appear to be laying well.

If because of feed shortages you must choose between keeping your layers and raising a new crop of pullets, sell at least part of the layers. Remember, two pullets can be raised to maturity for the cost of feeding one hen the same period of time. The pullets will produce eggs when the demand is good and prices are high. The demand for fryers is very good and is growing stronger, while the supply of eggs is greatly increasing and the demand weakening. Let the public demand be your guide.

Bronchitis

"My chicks about three weeks old. For the last few days they have been sneezing and gasping for breath. What shall I do for them?"

Your description of the trouble in your chicks indicates that they have infectious bronchitis. The first thing to do is to look for the source of your trouble and be certain you eliminate it. Overheating and drafts are the two most common sources of any form of cold. See that the chicks are not exposed to a draft, especially at night. Overheating the brooder house to the extent that the chicks pant for breath is a very common cause of the trouble.

There is no quick cure for bronchitis any more than there is a cure for the common cold.

The GARDEN

By JOHN S. GARNER

A "MUST" FOR 1946

For a long time, growing a good garden has been just using good sense. Especially in the war years this was demonstrated, when the Victory gardens made the difference between a nation well fed and one on the verge of, at least, semi-famine.

Then, when war ended and rationing was removed or eased, came a let-down. But that let-down was premature, as anyone may see who reads his newspaper only casually. The world-food situation is not good. In all parts of this war-ravaged world, rationing is short and, in some, stark starvation stalks.

In all humanity, these peoples must be fed, and as one of the few nations whose food-producing economy is still intact, the United States will assume the major part of the job. Because of their nature, vegetables can be exported only in tin, but the canned vegetables in reserve in this country is the smallest ever. It will take a tremendous effort on the part of canneries and farmers to catch up.

With canned vegetables scarce, an added burden will pass to the fresh vegetable men already working at a speed they would have thought impossible a few years ago. So, again, home gardeners must fill a breach.

There is this other side to home gardening—the practical side of easing the family's food budget. At present vegetable prices, a gardener could earn handsome wages in a proper garden, but now he joins the very aristocracy of wage earners. Home gardening becomes better sense than ever. And because this is so, and because a bad world-food situation can so easily become world chaos, let's have a garden again this year.

"Lot of truth in that saying!"

Why is there a lot of truth in the slogan, "The Southern Serves the South"?

Because the rails of the 8,000-mile Southern Railway System reach into every state, except West Virginia, in all that vast area east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers.

And because serve means "to work for; to promote the interest of; and to aid."

The Southern works for the South...by providing a permanent, efficient, economical mass transportation service that can be relied upon...in all kinds of weather...to meet the transport needs of the South's people, and of its industry, commerce and agriculture.

It promotes the interests of the South...by encouraging new industries, homebuilders, and vacationists to come here to work and live and play.

It aids the South...by providing steady work for 50,000 men and women; by paying huge sums in taxes that help support schools and other public services; and by stimulating trade through its large-scale purchases of local products.

So, there is a lot of truth in that saying. Proudly...and gladly...the "Southern Serves the South."
